OUTBREAK OF CHOLERA IN THE DARBHANGA JAIL.

THE following report is published for general information.

C. W. BOLTON,

Offg. Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 5279, dated Calcutta, the 21st May 1896.

From—SURGEON-LIEUT.-COLONEL D. W. D. COMINS, Inspector-General of Jails, Bengal,

To—The Chief Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

I HAVE the honour to submit a special report by Surgeon-Captain H. Brown, Superintendent and Medical Officer of the Darbhanga Jail, on the recent outbreak of cholera there. The disease was first caused by the prisoners drinking the water of a tank in the jail grounds which, on being examined by Surgeon-Captain Green, was found to be teeming with comma bacilli. The orders in force that out-gangs should take with them boiled water for drinking purposes while at work in the jail grounds were, through the stupidity and carelessness of a head warder, neglected for one day with the result that the prisoners drank the water of the tank. The reputation of this tank water was well known, and it was reported to have caused an outbreak of cholera 18 months before. The first case occurred on the 31st of March, the second on the 3rd April, and the third on the 6th April. Dr. Brown cannot trace any connection between the first and the later cases, but is of opinion that it could not have been due to defects in the water-supply or the food. Three other cases occured on the evening of the 6th and the morning of the 7th and 8th April, and as the disease appeared to have established itself in the jail, 160 of the prisoners were, on the morning of the 10th, moved into camp. Further cases occurred both among those in camp and those left in the jail. The last case occurred on the 15th April; and on the 25th April, the jail buildings having been disinfected and the walls scraped and lime-washed, the prisoners returned to the jail. Since that time no further reports of any case of cholera have been received. Altogether there were 30 prisoners attacked, of whom 24 died—an unusually large proportion. Of the 30 cases, 14 occurred in the jail and 16 in the camp.

On hearing of the outbreak I communicated with Professor Haffkine, who with Surgeon-Captain Green started for Darbhanga the same evening. He arrived at the cholera camp on the morning of the 11th April. The object of his visit was explained to the prisoners. Dr. Brown, the Superintendent, and other officers came forward for inoculation, and afterwards 86 prisoners out of 160, or about half those in camp, were inoculated. No compulsion was used, and the prisoners are reported to have been eager for the operation, and those passed over for want of sufficient virus considered themselves badly used. Of the prisoners remaining in jail, Professor Haffkine inoculated 25 out of 53 prisoners. Of the 11 cases of cholera which occurred in camp after Professor Haffkine's visit, 8 are reported in prisoners who had not been inoculated, and 3 in those who had been inoculated. As the numbers of the inoculated and uninoculated was about the same, this appears strong evidence in favour of the protective power of the inoculation, especially as all the uninoculated prisoners attacked died, whereas only one died of the three inoculated prisoners attacked. On looking closely into the time of occurrence of the attacks, it is seen that all the cases in camp among the prisoners not inoculated by Professor Haffkine occurred within a few hours after the time of Professor Haffkine's inoculation of the other prisoners, whereas the earliest of the three attacks among those inoculated occurred on the third day after inoculation, and the last on the fourth day. This great difference in the incidence and virulence of the disease among those inoculated and not inoculated may, as suggested by Dr. Brown, be due to the immediate protective effect of the stronger virus used, though I am not aware that any such power has been claimed, and I have always understood that an increasingly protective effect was to be expected during the first ten days after inoculation and repeated introduction of the weaker virus. As regards the immediate effect of the inoculations, the immunity of those inoculated is not more remarkable than the immediate increase in the number of attacks among those not inoculated. The first group remained for days free from disease which finally appeared only in a lesser degree, but ⅛th of the second group were attacked within 24 hours, and all died. It must, however, be remembered that the 11th of April, besides being the day of inoculation, which took place about 9 A.M., was also the day during which attacks occurred in the greatest number, both before and after inoculation. Whatever may be the cause of the immunity of the inoculated, it was well marked, and strengthened the belief in the protecting influence of the virus. No such definite results can be observed in those inoculated within the jail. Of 53 prisoners, 25 were inoculated on the 11th April. That day there were no attacks. The next day two were attacked—one inoculated and the other not inoculated. On the 13th April one uninoculated prisoner was attacked. On the 14th two prisoners were attacked—one inoculated and the other uninoculated. Altogether, after inoculation there were five attacks among those left in jail, 2 being inoculated and 3 uninoculated. All these five prisoners died. Another point to be noticed is the liability to attack on the part of attendants on cholera cases, notwithstanding the arrangements for disinfection and cleanliness mentioned by the Superintendent. It is reported that all the water was boiled first and filtered afterwards; this process should have been reversed. The arrangements at the cholera camp appear to have been carried out with care and energy. My thanks are due to Professor Haffkine and Dr. C. M. Green for their ready help.

A Report on the Outbreak of Cholera in the Darbhanga Jail in March and April 1896.

CHOLERA had been prevalent in the town since the beginning of March, and had been slowly but steadily increasing and spreading. Numerous cases had occurred in Ward No. 7 to the north and north-east of the jail, so special precautions were taken to prevent its occurrence among the prisoners. The water-supply was carefully looked after; its source was the river Bagmati, which flows west of the town and which, at the time of the outbreak, was very low in consequence of the long-continued drought. It has been the practice for the last eighteen months to obtain the water from midstream instead of from near the bank; and for this purpose a boat has been hired and the water pumped from midstream through a hose into the water-cart on the bank. There is no doubt that the Bagmati was polluted, for cholera was raging at Ratanpati and Subhankarpur, outlying parts of the town on the western bank, which received their water-supply almost entirely from this stream. The people here were extremely careless, throwing the evacuations from cholera patients on the bank, and displaying the greatest ignorance of the results of their carelessness.

As the jail well had been condemned after analysis, and as there was no other source of supply, we had to continue using the water from the Bagmati, but were extremely particular to render it as safe as possible by allowing all suspended matter to settle, by careful boiling and subsequent filtration (though it is open to question whether the latter process is really salutary or the reverse).

All went well until the 31st of March, when a prisoner, who was working in the outside garden, was taken ill with diarrhœa and vomiting, and it was soon evident that he had cholera. I immediately proceeded to investigate the cause of the case and, after a little trouble, elicited information which satisfied me that I had traced the actual cause.

It was insisted on that every gang of prisoners working outside the jail walls (the garden gang, brick-makers, &c.) should take with them a gharra of boiled water so as to guard against the drinking of water from any other source. It happened that on the 29th of March the gharra used by the garden gang broke, and the matter was brought to the notice of 2nd Head Warder, Madhu Pershad Dubbey, by Warder Ganpat Singh, who was in charge of the gang, and again by convict overseer Ram Ghute. The head warder promised to supply another gharra, but had not done so by the following morning, though spoken to again by the warder and the convict overseer; the result being that the gang went to their work in the garden without a supply of drinking-water. One of the gang admitted having quenched his thirst with water from the tank, and he was the prisoner who was attacked with cholera.

Eighteen months ago I traced an outbreak of cholera to the same source—the jail tank, and it is satisfactory to know that when the water from this tank was examined by Surgeon-Captain Green on the 11th instant, it was found teeming with comma bacilli.

The affected prisoner was removed for treatment, and the other men of the garden gang were isolated and kept under close observation, but no fresh cases occurred amongst them.

Strict orders were now issued that all the gangs working outside should take their drinking-water with them, and that no other water should be drunk under pain of heavy punishment. The gate-warder was also directed not to allow any gang to pass out unless the prisoners had a gharra of water with them.

Special precautions were now taken regarding prisoners suffering from diarrhœa or using the night privy, all such being placed under observation in separate cells, visited very frequently and treated promptly.

The case of cholera was a severe one, proving fatal in 17 hours. No further cases occurred on the 1st or 2nd instant; the isolated gang, who were under close observation, remained in good health, and I had hopes that the disease would not spread when, on the 3rd at 9 A.M., a second case occurred—a youth who slept in a cubicle in the B class ward, and who could not possibly have been near the first case at any time; he did well, and was discharged on the 7th.

There was again a lull, no cases occurring on the 4th and 5th; but a third case appeared on the 6th at 4 P.M.—a prisoner working as an inside mehter in the A class. He was far removed from case No. 2, being at the other end of the jail, and a week had passed since he could have been near case No. 1, and I failed to establish any connection between cases 1 and 2, 1 and 3, or 2 and 3; but as suggested by Dr. Macrae, of Gaya, the contagion might have been carried by flies. It could not have been in the general food-supply or the general water-supply, otherwise the disease would not have been limited to scattered cases; but a fly might have contaminated that particular prisoner's plate of food or vessel of water.

The patient was removed to the cholera hut which is situated in the north-west corner of the jail grounds, and the attendants, who were selected from the garden gang above referred to, were cautioned as to the necessity of extreme cleanliness; a large pitcher of carbolic lotion being given for their use, with instructions that they should frequently use it for washing their hands, especially if at all soiled by the patient's evacuations. All the alvine discharges were promptly transferred to the incinerator, and thus got rid of, and no communication was allowed between the attendants at the cholera shed and the main body of prisoners within the jail walls.

On the evening of the 6th a fourth case occurred in Ward No. 3, B class barracks. No connection could be traced between this case and the three former ones, he being in quite a different block of buildings from cases 1 and 3, and a block distant from case 2; the latter sleeping in a cubicle and not being associated with No. 4 in any way.

At 4 A.M. on the 7th a fifth case occurred, the prisoner being employed as a tailor in the A class yard, and sleeping in Ward No. 1 which hitherto had afforded no cases.

At the same hour the following morning a convict overseer in the B class, sleeping in Ward No. 4, was attacked. He might, in his capacity as overseer, have been associated with case No. 4, a B class prisoner in Ward No. 3, but no proof of any communication could be obtained.

As scattered cases had occurred in nearly all the sleeping wards, I came to the conclusion that the disease would probably burst out with some intensity before long, and, being of opinion that removal of the prisoners might be necessary, I rode out to inspect a site which had been selected for a cholera camp a few years ago. It is an excellent spot in every respect except its distance from the jail—about 12 miles; and as there was no other available camping-ground, I thought that, as all the other indications were fulfilled—size, shade, water-supply—the place would be suitable for the prisoners. The one objection—distance from the jail—was, after all, not a formidable one as, by taking the prisoners by train from Laheria Sarai to Mahammadpur, the distance to be marched was about a mile and-a-half.

I discussed the matter with the Magistrate, Mr. R. W. Carlyle, on my return, and he agreed with me in thinking that removal of the prisoners was necessary; so I wired to the Patna Jail for tents, and directed Assistant Jailor Mahammad Khan, who was away on privilege leave, to return at once. He arrived on the morning of the 9th, and was sent off to the camp the same afternoon with the tents, twelve prisoners and six warders, with instructions to pitch as many tents as possible; two warders and two prisoners from Patna familiar with the work being also sent with him.

In the meantime a seventh case had occurred at 4 A.M. on the 9th, the patient being an under-trial prisoner in the hajat ward. This ward was immediately evacuated, the prisoners being removed to the lower sleeping ward in the B class barracks.

At 4 P.M. the same day, the 9th, there was another case from Ward No. 3, B class.

Early the following morning 160 prisoners, accompanied by myself, the jailor, the Civil Hospital Assistant, fourteen warders and twenty-one constables proceeded by train to Mahammadpur, distant ten miles from Laheria Sarai. The journey and the subsequent march of a mile and-a-half were accomplished satisfactorily, there being no cases of illness en route, and on reaching the camp I found a few tents had been erected, and the prisoners' early morning meal was ready.

I had selected a spot about 300 yards east of the camp as a trenching-ground, and this answered the purpose well. The drinking-water was obtained from the river, about half-a-mile south, where there was a depth of nearly seven feet and a fair current. The water for ablution was derived from a very large tank just to the west of the camp, the prisoners having their bathing parade near the bank.

At the north-east corner of the camp, about a hundred yards from the nearest tent, a tent was pitched for the reception of patients suffering from diarrhœa; and a hundred yards north-east of the latter was the tent for cholera patients. All evacuations from the sick were disinfected with carbolic acid and buried deep in a neighbouring field, not being taken to the trenching-ground; the same instructions being given to the attendants as had been issued at the jail.

At the north-west corner of the camp a large grass and bamboo structure was erected for the convalescents and those suffering from diseases other than diarrhœa and cholera, and every case of looseness of the bowels received instant attention.

The camp was very shady and cool, the prisoners were made very comfortable, and there were no complaints. Various forms of labour were carried on—those of necessity, such as drawing water, cleaving wood, cooking and scavenging; besides lighter employments, such as making money bags and subey string, and twisting thread.

No fresh cases occurred until 11 A.M., when two were reported simultaneously, and a third at noon. The latter was the acutest case that had ever come under my observation, the prisoner being a Burman, who was returning from the tank with about fifty others. I happened to be on the spot, and was watching the men as they entered the camp, when I saw the Burman—a big, stalwart man—suddenly reel and fall. I rushed to his assistance, thinking it was a case of sunstroke, but he immediately had a very profuse watery motion as he lay, and became collapsed almost immediately. It was evidently a very severe case of cholera, and the patient was removed to the tent where, after the administration of stimulants, he rallied slightly for a while; but collapse soon set in again, and he died the same night. The two cases that occurred just before the Burman eventually recovered.

For [illegible]teen hours after this no further cases were brought to notice, but at 2 and 4 A.M., respectively, on the 11th, two cases occurred, who died.

Up to this time 14 cases had occurred in all—9 in the jail and 5 at the camp—and I was relieved at hearing that Professor Haffkine had started from Calcutta for the purpose of inoculating the prisoners. The Professor, accompanied by Surgeon-Captain Green, arrived at the camp at 8 A.M. on [illegible] 11th instant, and proceeded to make arrangements to inoculate such as were willing to submit to the operation. The prisoners were spoken to on the subject, and seemed to be encouraged by the fact that inoculation was to be practised, the word "tica," which was familiar to them from its association with small-pox, appearing to appeal to them.

They were accordingly arranged sitting in four rows in full view of the tent outside which Dr. Haffkine was about to start the operation. I was the first subject to be inoculated, and after me the Jailor, Assistant Jailor, and Civil Hospital Assistant, and three warders. The first prisoner in the first rank was next brought up, and submitted cheerfully, after which every alternate man was taken, until one-half of the total number were inoculated. As each man was finished with, he was taken to a place away from his original position so that, at the conclusion of the operations, there were two distinct bodies of prisoners—the inoculated and the uninoculated—numbering 83 and 81, respectively; three others being inoculated later—an attendant on cholera patients and two patients suffering from diarrhœa. Those who had not been inoculated were not at all pleased at being passed over and, to our surprise, they rose, almost to a man, and begged to be inoculated; nor were they satisfied when informed that the material was exhausted. This demonstrates the fact that, so far from compulsion being practised, the prisoners were extremely eager for inoculation, and those who were passed over considered themselves badly used.

Those who were inoculated were told that, in a few hours, they should expect to have a certain amount of pain at the seat of puncture, followed by fever; and they were allowed to rest in their tents that day and the next.

Dr. Haffkine informed me that, instead of using the smaller dose of the emulsion, as he had done at the Gaya Jail, he would employ a much larger quantity: as much, in fact, as that injected by Surgeon-Captain Hare in his recent inoculations in Assam. The result, he said, would be a quicker reaction, and this certainly did result. In my own case the pain was almost immediate, and steadily increased, the temperature soon rising and reaching a maximum of 104° F., the same occurring also in the great majority of the others; their temperature, however, not reaching so high a point.

In all probability this rapid reaction meant prompt protection, as succeeding events demonstrated. The inoculations were over at about 10-30 A.M., and fresh cases of cholera occurred at 12 (noon), 6, 6, 7 and 7-30 P.M., and 12 (midnight),—all the cases being among those who were not inoculated, and all terminating fatally, despite the greatest care and the most prompt and assiduous treatment.

On the 12th two further cases occurred, both among the uninoculated, and both died. There were no fresh cases on the 13th. On the following day there were two, both being inoculated prisoners, and both recovering; and on the 15th the last case occurred. This was also an inoculated prisoner, an old and weakly man, who had been under treatment for diarrhœa, and who eventually died. A tabular statement is appended, which shows at a glance the daily strength and the number of cases admitted from the inoculated and the uninoculated, respectively, together with the deaths.

The last death, that of the inoculated prisoner, occurred on the 16th instant, after which there were no cases left in the camp.

On leaving the camp, Professor Haffkine and Dr. Green returned to Darbhanga and proceeded to the jail, where they inoculated 25 out of 53 prisoners, 2 warders, a Hospital Assistant, and Dr. Green himself.

On the 12th an inoculated prisoner was admitted to the jail hospital for cholera, having had diarrhœa since nine o'clock the previous night, and he died the same day. There was also another admission that day—an uninoculated prisoner—who also died.

On the 13th a third case occurred—an uninoculated prisoner; and on the 14th two more—the one inoculated and the other not—and they all died; in fact all the five cases that occurred after inoculation was carried out, terminated fatally. It is a significant fact, however, that of these five cases no fewer than three were attendants in the cholera shed—the first, second and fourth who were attacked. I cannot explain this, as it is unusual for attendants to contract the disease unless grossly careless; and in my experience, which is extensive, attendants have not suffered as a rule.

At the camp, two attendants were attacked, the one who had been inoculated recovering, the other who had not been so protected, succumbing.

The total number of cases that occurred was 30, of which 24 proved fatal—an exceedingly heavy mortality; of these, 14 had occurred before inoculation was performed, 9 being at the jail and 5 in camp, of which 10 had proved fatal. After inoculation, 11 cases occurred at the camp—8 among the uninoculated, all of whom died, and 3 among the inoculated, of whom 1 died; while at the jail there were 5 cases—2 among the inoculated and 3 among the uninoculated—all of which terminated fatally.

Assistant Surgeon Lolit Mohon Laha, who was sent to my assistance, arrived at the camp on the afternoon of the 12th, and rendered most excellent service throughout the remainder of the time during which the prisoners were in camp.

Civil Hospital Assistant Mahammad Shafaiyat Hussain, who had been working day and night willingly and cheerfully, was now able to obtain a little well-earned rest.

I was obliged to suspend the Jailor, Babu Brojo Lal Bhattacharjee, for wilful and deliberate disobedience of orders. I stated the particulars of the case to the Magistrate, who advised me to take the action referred to. Deputy Jailor Gopal Chundra Mahapatra arrived on the 16th instant and took over charge of the camp from Assistant Jailor Mahammad Hussain. The latter was recalled from privilege leave when it was decided that the prisoners should go into camp, and he worked most indefatigably, giving me the greatest satisfaction.

The Deputy Jailor managed the camp excellently, providing in a few hours articles that had been ordered days previously and which the Jailor had not obtained.

The warder guard occasioned some trouble at first; they were out of hand, had a tendency to be insubordinate, and were in the habit of disputing orders given them. I soon put an end to this by having them mustered and warning them that behaviour of this kind in future would result in the offender being put in irons. I had no further trouble in this direction.

The prisoners were well behaved. There was no attempt at an escape; very few complaints were made, and they were of a trivial nature. I did not think it necessary to use bell chains at night, as the system of guarding was very satisfactory.

The general health of the prisoners was good, there being very few admissions to hospital.

As several cases of diarrhœa occurred shortly after the early morning meal, I stopped that meal on the 12th. The morning meal was then issued at 10 o'clock, and the afternoon meal at 4, the prisoners receiving the full allowance of 13 chitaks of rice per diem, one-half at each meal.

Fish and meat were ordered to be given on alternate days, but were not given until after the Deputy Jailor's arrival, and dahi made from milk obtained from the jail cows was given with the morning meal.

No fresh cases of cholera occurred after the 15th, and the jail buildings having been thoroughly disinfected and the walls scraped and lime-washed, I took the prisoners back to the jail on the 25th, where everything was ready for their reception.

No cases of cholera have occurred since, and the general health of the prisoners is very good.

DARBHANGA, the 21st April 1896.

WATER-SUPPLY.

No. 2414L. S.-G.—The 9th June 1896.—The following reports on the scarcity of water are published for general information.

H. H. RISLEY,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 791G., dated Midnapore, the 25th May 1896.

From—W. R. BRIGHT, ESQ., Collector of Midnapore,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Dept.

IN continuation of my No. 654G., dated 18th instant, I beg to submit the weekly report on the water scarcity in this district for the week ending the 23rd instant.

2. As previously reported, Contai and Tamluk are quite safe. There has been further rain in the Sadar, which has, I should think, removed the last trace of unusual inconvenience.

3. From Ghatal also a great improvement is reported, as nearly an inch of rain fell last week. The Subdivisional Officer reports that the rain has done away with the scarcity of water to some extent, and that fodder and water are now sufficient.

Under the circumstances I consider that we need be under no further apprehension as regards this district. I am now stopping the construction of temporary wells, as such do not seem to be required. The works already sanctioned for Ghatal are under construction, and a further advance of Rs. 300 has been made to the Subdivisional Officer.

4. The Maharaja of Mohurbhanj is reported to have arranged to supply the inhabitants of a few hamlets in Gopiballavpur thana, where the supply was insufficient, with water.

5, In conclusion, I beg to report that in the Sadar subdivision no fewer than 103 temporary wells have been constructed and re-excavated or are in course of construction and re-excavation at the cost of the District Board.

This is of course in addition to the work sanctioned for the Ghatal subdivision.

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park Street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 0·5° higher; and, finally, the thermometer which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during 20 years and upwards is found to read 0·6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h., and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

o, overcast; g, gloomy; d, drizzling rain; t, thunder; p, passing temporary showers; ⌓, dew.

DARJEELING,
The 11th June 1896.

A. CROFT,
Director of Public Instruction.

THE following notification is published for general information :—.

THE TRAINING OF TEACHERS FOR ENGLISH SECONDARY SCHOOLS.

1. In this office circular No. 41, dated the 7th April 1896, the arrangements sanctioned by Government for the opening of classes for the training of English teachers in five Training Schools were explained. In the appended Syllabus are now shown details of the course of school-work which will have to be studied and practised by candidates for teachership-certificates.

2. The important point to be recognised is that certificates will not be given for theoretical acquaintance, however complete, with the contents of text-books on the Art of Teaching, unless a candidate also shows that he is able to apply those principles to practice, and to teach a class and prepare notes of lessons to the satisfaction of the Inspector of Schools. The Inspector's practical examination of each candidate cannot cover all the subjects with which a teacher is expected to be familiar, and therefore that examination will be supplemented by a writen examination in the subjects of the Syllabus; but it must be understood that paramount weight will be attached to the practical examination.

3. The course of study, from July to April, will occupy about eight months, exclusive of holidays. For the first month, the students under training should be required to do nothing more than sit in the class-rooms of the attached practising school and watch the teachers, noting their methods and the way in which the work generally is conducted. The students may be divided for this purpose into batches, to sit in different class-rooms; and after a few days in one room, each batch should be shifted to another. The head or other master in immediate charge of the students under training should pass from room to room, noting the methods of the teacher for subsequent discussion. The latter part of the day will be devoted to the discussion of what the students have seen done in the school-room, with the object of leading them to understand the points that distinguish good from bad teaching.

4. During the next four months, the first part of the day will be occupied by the students one by one giving lessons in turn, the rest making notes. The class-master will be present, and will at the outset interpose, when necessary, to correct the method of the student who is giving the lesson. Later on, the students may be left much more to themselves. Two hours of each day should be so employed; the class-master taking the class for the rest of the day himself, the students under training being also present for a part of the time. The latter part of the day will be largely occupied in the criticism of these lessons by the students and the master-in-charge, who will also give a lesson to the students on some point connected with class-teaching or discipline, associating his subject as much as possible with the actual work of the school-room.

5. During the last three months, a much larger share of the work of the school will be taken by the students, each of whom in turn should take one of the classes during three successive days in all their subjects for three hours a day under the constant supervision of the class-master and of the master-in-charge. The students not engaged in teaching will be occupied, as before, in observing and taking notes for subsequent discussion.

6. In the evening and morning, out of school hours, the students will be employed in preparing notes of lessons on subjects to be set by the master-in-charge; or they will be engaged in independent study of any subject that they may select with his approval, for example, of any subject in which they may have shown themselves weak or deficient at the University examination. In these studies the master-in-charge will give them all needful assistance.

7. During the second and third periods of study (four months and three months), the master-in-charge will from time to time give the students selected chapters to read, from one or other of the Manuals on the Art of Teaching, upon some point of school teaching, management or discipline. After each chapter has been read and studied, the master-in-charge will make it the subject of notes and questions to his class. Among the books to be used for this purpose are—

(1) The National Society's Manuals of the Science and Art of Teaching, first and second series.
(2) Gladman's School Method (Jarrold and Sons).
(3) How to pass 90 per cent. (Heywood).
(4) Joyce's Handbook of School Management (Simpkin, Marshall and Company).

A sufficient number of the above text-books will be supplied to each Training School. They will be the property of the school, and will be given out to the students when required.

8. The following more advanced works on the same subject will be placed in the library of each Training School for the use of the masters, or occasionally of students who may wish to refer them:—

(1) Gladman's School work (Jarrold and Sons).
(2) Fitch's Lectures on Teaching (Cambridge University Press).
(3) Fearon's School Inspection (Macmillan).
(4) Blakiston's The Teacher: Hints on School Management.
(5) The National Society's Manuals, advanced series.
(6) Thring's Theory and Practice of Teaching (Cambridge University Press).

9. The course of instruction, and the practical and theoretical examination, of candidates for second and third-grade certificates will thus be the same; the grade of certificate depending upon the University qualifications of the candidate. Candidates for first-grade certificates (those who have read the B.A. course), as well as candidates for second and third-grade certificates who have served with credit as teachers for three years, will not be required to go through any course of instruction at the Training School. They will be examined on paper in the subjects specified in the appended Syllabus; and they will be subjected to a practical examination in class-teaching and in notes of lessons. The Inspector may, at his discretion, conduct at the candidate's own school the practical examination of any candidate who is a teacher.

SYLLABUS OF SUBJECTS.

School work to be studied by Students preparing for Teacherships.

A—CLASS MANAGEMENT.

I.—CLASS TEACHING (GENERAL).

CLASS teaching consists broadly of two processes—

(a) imparting knowledge directly to the scholars;
(b) leading them to discover facts for themselves.

The necessity for using both these processes.
The special function and advantages of each.
Common-sense adaptation to circumstances required in deciding which process to use.

Necessity for the teaching to be adapted to the level of the previous knowledge and the mental powers of the scholars.
The teacher's language to be as clear and simple as possible.
Explanation. Verbal, material and pictorial illustration.

The use to be made of analogy and contrast.
The use of the black-board.

Questioning—
The various uses of questioning.
The features of a good question.
The features of good questioning.
The best method of putting questions so as to secure, as far as possible, the efforts of the whole class to discover the answer.
Bad forms of questions.
Bad forms of questioning.

Answers—good, bad, correct in substance, partially correct, wrong.
Method of dealing with these various forms of answers, and with cases where no answer is given.

The danger of simultaneous answering.
The best method of receiving answers so as to secure, as far as possible, the efforts of the whole class to be prepared to give the answer.

The ground traversed should be judiciously selected.
Not only should the previous attainments of the scholars be considered, but care should also be taken—

(a) to avoid needless details and unnecessary difficulties; and
(b) neither to attempt too much nor to do too little at a time.

Thoroughness should always be aimed at.
One step at a time should be completely mastered. Sound progress is almost always slow progress.

The scholars should be made to understand what they do.
Things should precede ideas; ideas should precede words; examples should precede rules; and understanding should precede definition.

Repetition of work, that is, going over and over the same ground, is necessary.
Direct repetition is sometimes advisable, but it is liable to abuse.
Indirect repetition, that is, repeating the same substance in different words, is generally to be preferred. Sameness should be avoided as far as possible.
The recapitulation of lessons as a whole is very useful, and often discovers weak places.

Class teaching should aim at—

(a) the giving of such collective instruction and training as is required by the whole class in common; and

(b) the giving of such additional individual instruction and training as is required by each scholar of the class.

Collective instruction must be pressed home to individuals, so as to reach every scholar in the class. The teacher must fight against the temptation to confine his attention to the bright scholars; and he must also avoid doing the work himself instead of making the scholars do it.

Individual scholars should receive as much attention as it is possible to give without detriment to the class as a whole.

Whether the attention of the scholars is secured or not depends very largely on the character of the teaching, and the manner of the teacher.

II.—DISCIPLINE.

The results it aims to secure.

To be as effective as possible, discipline must be—

Intelligent, discriminative, marked by general good sense.

Regular, not fitful.

Just and impartial, free from caprice of temper or favouritism.

Powerful, but not obtrusive.

Kindly, even when it cannot be pleasant.

Courteous, yet dignified.

Complete and thorough.

The leading instincts and emotions which good discipline recognises and utilises.

Rewards and punishments.

Good teaching and good discipline help one another.

Drill as an aid to discipline.

The bearing of organisation on discipline.

Order—a result of discipline.

Good rules should be framed; the scholars should know them well; and their observance should be insisted upon.

There should be no laxity, no undue stringency, no pettiness (excessive minuteness or needless orders), and no want of foresight.

Attention—partially dependent upon discipline.

The broad rule to secure attention is "make attention more pleasant than inattention"; but there are circumstances where attention must be insisted upon, although it cannot be made pleasant. Gaining the mere semblance of attention, and failing to secure real attention, is to be guarded against.

B—METHODS OF TEACHING.

I.—SPECIAL ORAL LESSONS.

Their value.

They supplement ordinary lessons, smooth the way for other work, and introduce variety into the ordinary routine.

They cultivate in the children habits of observation and reflection, they develop and train the reasoning powers, and they create and stimulate a desire for knowledge.

They develop and exercise power in the teacher.

Preparation.

Its general necessity.

How to prepare the lessons.

Notes of lessons—How to draw them up, and how to use them.

The lesson.

The subject-matter and its arrangement.

Method of teaching the various parts.

Illustrations, and the use of the black-board.

II.—METHODS OF TEACHING PARTICULAR SUBJECTS.

(a) Reading, spelling, writing, arithmetic, grammar, geography, history, drawing.

(b) Euclid, algebra, languages, science.

[Candidates for third-grade certificates will not be required to study section (b).]

C.—ORGANISATION.

The organisation of a school consists of the arrangements made for the employment of every one connected with the school in the most profitable manner throughout the school day.

It concerns—

the classification of the scholars;

the arrangement of the classes;

the distribution of the work amongst the staff;

the school time-table;

a scheme of work for each class;

periodical examinations and the use made of their results; and arrangements connected with discipline, cleanliness, neatness, &c.

D.—REGISTRATION.

The keeping of all the necessary registers, account-books, &c.

E.—THE SCHOOL BUILDING.

Lighting, ventilation, sanitary arrangements.

F.—FURNITURE AND APPARATUS.

EDUCATIONAL PROSPECTUS.

THE Calcutta Medical College Session, 1896-97, will commence on the 15th June next. Students who may be desirous of commencing their studies are requested to apply to the Principal between the hours of 11 A.M. and 4 P.M. on or before 1st June.

Students are expected to enter formally and commence attendance at the College upon the date named.

2. No person shall be enrolled as a matriculated student who has not previously passed the First Arts examination of the Calcutta or an Indian University, or a preliminary Arts examination of the United Kingdom recognized by the British General Medical Council.

3. All matriculated students of the College shall pay Rs. 15 on entrance, Rs. 35 for the summer session on the 1st June, and Rs. 35 for the winter session on 1st November of each year. Rupees 6 extra will be required from each student for each course of dissections. Fees once paid cannot be refunded.

Muhammadan students are required to pay Rs. 15 on entrance and half-fee, i.e., Rs. 17-8, per session. The remaining half-fees are charged to the Mohsin Fund.

4. No free presentations will be awarded at the beginning of the session, but the fees shall be refunded to the ten students who pass highest in all subjects at the end of their first year of study.

5. Any matriculated student of the College may, with the permission of the Principal and the Professor of the subject, attend courses of lectures or departments of hospital practice in addition to the full curriculum for the year, and shall be entitled to certificates of attendance at such extra lectures, if the Professor is satisfied that he or she has really studied the subject. The fees payable in advance for such additional courses are the following:—

	Rs.
For a single course of lectures on each subject in one year ...	40
For six months' attendance in each department of hospital practice	60

6. Any matriculated student who leaves the College before completing his University course, with the object of continuing his studies at a medical school in Europe, may receive certificates of attendance at lectures on payment of fees at the rate fixed in the foregoing rule. But in calculating the sum to be so paid, the amount of the fees already paid by him as a regular student, or, in the case of a free student, the amount which would have been paid by him had he been a paying student, shall be deducted.

7. Any person not being a matriculated student of the College who wishes to attend any course of lectures, or any department of hospital practice, may do so with the permission of the Principal and Professor of the subject on payment, in advance, of fees at the rates fixed in paragraph 5. If he has passed the Entrance examination of the University, he shall receive certificates of attendance at lectures. If he has not passed the Entrance examination, he shall receive no class certificates.

8. At the end of their first year, students will be required to pass a College test examination in Anatomy, Chemistry, and Botany. Those who gain not less than 20 per cent. in two subjects, and not less than 15 per cent. in a third, will be eligible for promotion to the second-year class. Those who fail to gain the aforesaid percentage of marks will not be eligible for promotion, but will go through the first-year class again.

9. Students of the second year will be required to pass a College test examination in Anatomy, Physiology, and Materia Medica. Those who pass the examination with 20 per cent. in two subjects and 15 per cent. in a third will be entitled to go up in the following March or April for the Preliminary Scientific Examination of the Calcutta University, the subjects of which are Chemistry and Botany. Those who (after passing the College test) fail at the University examination will be entitled, equally with those who pass it, to join the third-year class, at the end of which, the former will have to present themselves, as at present, for the combined Preliminary Scientific and 1st L.M.S. (or 1st M.B.) examination.

10. Those students who fail at the College test examination of the second year will not be debarred from going up for the Preliminary Scientific examination, but will be encouraged to do so in order to get that stage over; but whether they pass or fail at the University examination, they will be relegated for a further year to the second-year class, provided that those who pass the University examination will not be required to attend the courses in those subjects in which they have passed.

11. Students of the third year will present themselves for the 1st L.M.S. or 1st M.B. examination of the Calcutta University. Those who fail at this examination will be relegated for a further year to the third-year class.

12. Students of the first, second, or third-year class who fail a second time, at the same stage, to gain promotion to the next higher class, will be removed from the College, and will not be entitled to readmission.

13. Students of the fourth-year class will be required to pass a College test examination in Surgery, Medicine, Midwifery, and Medical Jurisprudence. Those who pass the examination with 20 per cent. of the marks in three subjects, and 15 per cent. in a fourth, will be eligible for promotion to the fifth-year class. Those who fail, will be relegated to the fourth-year class for a further year. The examination in Surgery and Medicine will be both theoretical and clinical; but those students who can obtain from the Visiting Surgeon or Physician, to whose wards they have been attached, a certificate that they have really profited by their instruction in either subject, will be excused the clinical examination in that subject.

14. Students who fail at the 2nd L.M.S. or 2nd M.B. examination will have to attend a further course of lectures in the subject or subjects in which they have failed, in accordance with the regulations of the University.

15. The Principal will determine the maximum number that may be admitted to the first-year class. Students who have failed at the test examination of the first year will have a prior claim to readmission over new students.

16. Students readmitted to a class after failure at the test examination will be required to pay the full fees for the session. Those, however, who, after failing either at the Preliminary Scientific examination or at the final examination, have to attend a further course of lectures in the subject or subjects in which they failed, shall be required to pay for such lectures, a fee of Rs. 40 for one subject, Rs. 60 for two, and Rs. 70 for three. Exceptions to this latter rule may be made in special cases by the Director of Public Instruction on the recommendation of the Principal.

17. College prizes and certificates of honour are open for competition to matriculated students of the College, military medical pupils, and female certificate classes. College scholarships (vide paragraph 18) are awarded only to matriculated students of the College.

M. S. or 1st M. B. examination. These scholarships are tenable for two years, provided the holder passes creditably the Test and Honour examinations at the end of his fourth year. In the event of any scholarship being forfeited under this condition, it may be awarded for one year to any student of the fifth year who has fulfilled the conditions and is not the holder of any scholarship. These scholarships shall not be awarded to students who have gained the Durga Charan Laha scholarship of Rs. 30 per mensem or any other scholarship.

Students who from any cause fail to pass their University examinations at their first chance are not eligible for any of these scholarships, either junior or senior.

„ 1st	266	12mo dy	1st...	1,000	ditto ...	......	......	This is a story of ordinary Bengali middle class life. Madhumálatí is a Brahmin's daughter, and her marriage forms the subject-matter of the story. But the interest of the plot centres round the doings of a gang of budmashes and their reformation by a beggar woman, assisted by a sannyasi. Lílá was Madhumálatí's older sister, and was cast away by her husband at the instance of his mistress. The budmashes wanted to abduct Lílá for immoral purposes, but were baffled in their efforts through the interference of a beggar woman, who saved Madhumálatí also from the same fate. The beggar woman was the mistress of Lílá's husband, whom remorse had caused to give up her sinful life and to devote herself to the succour of the wronged and the afflicted. She worked out the reformation of the gang of budmashes and materially assisted in getting Madhumálatí married and Lílá restored to her husband, a changed and reformed man.	3600

A story giving humorous sketches of the different phases of modern Bengali life, including all sorts of imposture and hypocrisy, which are practised in the name of religion, politics and social reform. The plot follows the fortunes of a rich man's family, and shows how rich men's sons are spoilt in early life by the parasites, who hang about their fathers. There is a good deal of powerful writing in the book. The plot is ill-constructed, and resembles a collection of sketches rather than a connected whole.	3605

A short account of the Sanskrit poets of India, beginning with Gunádhya, the writer of the Vrihatkathá, and ending with the author himself, who wrote in Sanskrit a poem called the Kokiladuta. It is written in good, correct Bengali. The author is not living, and the work under notice has been published by his son, a well-known High Court pleader.	3729

Jan. 6th	68	16mo	1st...	1,000	Printed.	0 4 0	The Author, 210/6, Cornwallis Street, Calcutta.	Is a very thoughtful book dealing with the essentials of the worship of God, as they are understood in the Brahmo Church. These essentials consist, in the opinion of the writer, in realising the nature and existence of God, in regarding Him as the source and author of all good and in shaping one's conduct according to His holy wish as revealed in one's self-consciousness. As Brahmoism is based on Hinduism and Christianity, its ideal of worship is, as the writer thinks, necessarily more perfect than that of the other two. The book is written in good Bengali.	3824

1896. Feb. 10th	296	16mo dc	1st...	500	ditto ...	......	The Author, Calcutta	In this volume the author deals with the intellectual condition of the Hindus and attempts "to give some idea of the nature and operation of the influences which have affected the Hindu intellect under British Rule." In a very thoughtful Introduction, the writer seeks to trace the causes that have contributed to the gradual decay of the Hindu intellect during the last seven centuries According to him the caste system has mainly contributed to this result.	3701

Nov. 14th	124	8vo dy	1st...	200	Printed.	......	......	According to the author, no improvement in the temporal condition of the Muhammadans will be possible, so long as they do not give up strict adherence to the Namaz, fasting and other religious practices, which now engross too much of their attention and fritter away energies which might otherwise be employed in bettering their condition. The Muhammadan Law of Inheritance, by encouraging the division of property into too many petty shares, tends to impoverish the race. It should therefore be changed on the model of the Hindu Law of Inheritance.	3

Dec. 11th	72	8vo rl	1st...	1,000	ditto ...	0 6 0	ditto ...	Besides the political notes appended at the end, this number contains a number of interesting articles, among which those on M. Pasteur's treatment of hydrophobia, the Bengali translation of the Rigveda and Siraj-ud-doula and his times are the most important. The political notes take a very desponding view of the condition of the people and deplore the cast-iron character of British rule, under which the people are denied the opportunity of coming into personal contact with their rulers and laying their grievances before them. The theory of legislation by mandate, as expounded by His Excellency Lord Elgin, is next condemned, and a very disparaging view taken of His Excellency's character and abilities as a statesman.	3948
1896. Jan. 13th	64	8vo rl	1st...	1,000	ditto ...	0 6 0	ditto ...	The political notes appended to this number take a more or less disparaging view of the character and tendency of British rule in India. In the opinion of the writer, the English administration in India is becoming more and more illiberal and oppressive. The introduction of local self-government has rather increased than mitigated the rigours of that administration. The tendency of the administration is made clear by the provisions of the Jury Bill which, when passed, will reduce the jury into a 'consultative body.' As to local self-government, it is a sham and a misnomer. Though Bengalis were the first to invite Englishmen into Bengal, though they have since loyally followed them through prosperity and adversity and have completely thrown in their lot with that of their new rulers, they are now looked upon with jealousy and hatred by the latter. Eurasians share in the prosperity of Englishmen, because they have identified their lot with theirs, and yet Bengalis who have done the same thing and much more than that, fare very differently at their hands. Even petty acts of administration show the attitude of the rulers towards the Bengalis. The rules regarding the distribution of veterinary scholarships, passed under Sir Charles Elliott, are cited as a case in point.	3949
Feb. 2nd	64	8vo rl	1st...	1,000	ditto ...	0 6 0	ditto ...	The articles on Siraj-ud-doula, which appeared in this and the three previous numbers of this journal, contain much interesting information about him and his times and portray him in rather favourable colours. According to the writer, the English from the first disliked Siraj-ud-doula, simply because he was quick enough to see through their designs and tried to put down the fraud, which they practised in the name of the Company. Much of the cruelty, which is ascribed to him, seems to have no foundation in fact. Other articles are of literary and general interest.	3950

RESOLUTION.

POLICE.

Darjeeling, the 10th June 1896.

READ—

The Annual Report on the Police Administration of the Town of Calcutta and its Suburbs for the year 1895.

Read also—

The reports for the two previous years and the Resolutions recorded thereon by Government.

Sir John Lambert, K.C.I.E., Commissioner of Police, was absent on special leave from the 1st May to the 4th November, during which period Mr. A. H. eames officiated for him. Mr. A. B. Barnard held the office of Deputy Commissioner of Police throughout the year.

2. The total number of offences, cognizable and non-cognizable, reported in the town of Calcutta and its suburbs during 1895 and the four preceding years, is shown in the following table:—

	1891.	1892.	1893.	1894.	1895.
1	2	3	4	5	6
Town	48,569	47,765	36,552	41,512	45,291

Total ...	60,440	59,237	47,794	54,526	58,880

The total number of cases has risen from 47,794 in 1893 to 54,526 in 1894 and 58,880 during the year under report, but it is still less than that reported in each of the three years preceding 1893. Compared with the figures for 1894, there has been an increase of 3,779 cases in the town and 575 in the suburbs, or 4,354 cases in all, chiefly under minor heads of offences, viz., offences under the Municipal Act (2,206 cases), miscellaneous offences in the streets (912 cases), and other offences under the Police Act (1,202 cases). The table below contrasts the figures for the past two years under cognizable and non-cognizable crime, and Penal Code and miscellaneous offences:—

		1894.	1895.	Increase or decrease.

3. The following table shows separately the number of cognizable and non-cognizable cases and their results in the last two years, and also the division of work between the courts of the Town and the suburbs during the past year:—

Figures for preceding year.	6,739	92	5,983	6,527	80	3,012	9,629	6,309	10	2,105	8,514

The total number of cases tried in the Town and suburbs during the year was 42,004, of which 33,346 ended in conviction. Of 28,071 cognizable cases sent up by the police, 25,498, or 90·8 per cent., ended in conviction, as compared with 93·4 per cent. in the previous year; while out of 1,586 cognizable cases taken up by the Magistrates direct, convictions were obtained in 436 cases only, or in 27·5 per cent., against 42·7 per cent. in 1894. The results are creditable to the work of the police force. The low percentage of convictions shown in cases taken up by the Magistrates direct is due, it has been ascertained, to the fact that in a very large number of these cases the parties either effected a compromise or settlement out of Court, or the complainant failed to appear. The decrease of 656 in Penal Code cases occurred under unimportant sections, chiefly those dealing with local and public nuisances. Excluding offences under Class VI ("other offences"), the figures of true crime for the three years, 1893, 1894 and 1895, are 3,326, 3,225 and 3,614, respectively. The total number of arrests under all heads in the Town and suburbs in cognizable cases fell from 38,342 in 1894 to 37,917: the ratio per cent. of convictions to arrests being 90·4, or about the same as last year. In cognizable Penal Code cases, the percentage of convictions was 82·53, and in miscellaneous cognizable cases 93·45. In non-cognizable cases, the number of persons required to appear in Court fell from 17,144 to 16,791, while the percentage of convictions rose from 42 to 47.

4. False cases.—Sixty-four false cases were brought in the Town and 27 in the suburbs during the year, compared with 55 and 19 in 1894. Compensation was awarded to the amount of Rs. 114 in 12 cases in the Town, and Rs. 50 in two cases in the suburbs. In all, 56 prosecutions for bringing false charges were instituted under the Penal Code, of which 50 were disposed of, but only 2 ended in imprisonment, and 11 in fine. In twenty-three cases the accused were discharged, and fourteen cases were struck off through the failure of parties to appear and withdrawal of the prosecutions. These figures are not satisfactory, and show that further caution should be exercised in the prosecution of these cases.

5. Property stolen and recovered.—Property to the value of Rs. 1,75,596 was stolen in the Town and suburbs during the year, as compared with Rs. 1,83,787 in 1894. Of this, Rs. 1,01,014 were recovered, or 57·52 per cent., against 68·14 per cent. in the preceding year.

6. Cognizable offences in the Town.—The number of true cognizable cases reported in the Town rose from 23,755 in 1894 to 24,476. The largest increase was under "Special and local laws," mostly in street offences under the Calcutta Police Act. Offences under the Shipping Acts rose from 377 to 493, while offences under the Port Acts fell from 1,801 to 1,267. There were 64 cases of European vagrancy compared with 50 in 1894. A decrease, on the other hand, of 1,033 cases occurred under Class VI, almost wholly under the public and local nuisance sections of the Penal Code.

There were nine cases of murder during 1895, or the same number as in the two preceding years. Two were murders by poison, and both cases were eventually withdrawn. One case of triple murder occurred, in which a man of respectable parentage, who had squandered his fortune and was unable to support his wife and children, gained access to his father-in-law's house, where his family were living, in the dead of night, and stabbed several persons. The plea of insanity, urged on his behalf, was rejected, and he was executed. No case of culpable homicide occurred during the year. The number of cases of grievous hurt rose slightly from 31 to 35, and of 46 persons tried, 25 were convicted and 21 discharged. There were two cases of administering drugs, in both of which prostitutes were robbed. In one case, the two accused, who were up-country men, were traced, and sentenced to seven years' rigorous imprisonment each. Thirty-six cases of hurt by dangerous weapons occurred, as compared with 31 in 1894, and an average of 43 in the preceding five years. Of 41 persons arrested in these cases, 16 were convicted and 22 discharged. A considerable rise occurred in the number of cases of kidnapping; but of the 31 cases reported, 28 were instituted on complaint to the Courts direct, in 14 of which the accused were acquitted or discharged, and in one only was a conviction obtained. Of 71 persons placed upon their trial for using criminal force to public servants, or to females, 42 were convicted and 28 discharged, 29 being convicted of assaults on the police. There were 3 cases of robbery, against 6 in 1894, of which 2 ended in conviction. Burglary and house-trespass show a decrease in the number of cases, but an increase in the amount of property stolen, over the figures of the preceding year. The percentages of conviction and of property recovered show an improvement. Thefts, on the other hand, show an increase in number, but a decrease in property stolen. Of 1,517 theft cases reported as true, 901 were detected, and 974 persons convicted—a result which is better than that of the previous year: the percentage of property recovered, however, decreased from 68·38 to 58·08. Criminal breach of trust shows 453 cases, against 324 in 1894, and 322 in 1895. Out of 305 persons placed on their trial, 121 were convicted, against 67 convicted out of 249 tried in 1894. In these cases it is said that settlements are frequently made out of Court. During the year, 20 cases of theft of property committed by drivers of carts were successfully prosecuted. The Commissioner of Police observes that owing to the difficulty of establishing a satisfactory system of cart registration, wholesale thefts by carriers are very numerous. He will be desired to submit a separate report on this subject. Of 581 persons charged with offences under the Shipping Acts, 542 were convicted, against 206 tried and 181 convicted in 1894. There were 7,057 persons arrested during the year for cruelty to animals, with the very satisfactory result that 6,862, or 97·23 per cent, were convicted, or about the same proportion as in the previous year. Of this number, 1,677 were sent up by the police and 5,185 by the Society's agents.

7. Non-cognizable offences in the Town.—The numbers of non-cognizable offences reported true under the Penal Code and under special and local laws, respectively, were 4,829 and 15,971, compared with 4,403 and 13,321, the corresponding figures for 1894. The increase occurred chiefly in cases, under the Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act, II (B.C.) of 1888, sections 90 and 212, for exercising a trade or profession without license, and obstruction in the public streets. Sixteen cases of forgery were instituted, against 13 in 1894, three of which were enquired into by the police, 2 resulting in conviction. One of these cases was an ingenious attempt to defraud the Oriental Government Security Life Assurance Company, by obtaining a policy for Rs. 16,000 under a fictitious name, and then reporting the death of the holder. The number of cases of cheating rose from 180 to 272, of which only 14 were sent up by the police. The Commissioner of Police reports that the bogus firms, referred to in the Resolution of last year, are very numerous, but that they have an ephemeral existence and their transactions have been chiefly on a small scale. The method of swindling adopted by these "firms" appears to have been practised for many years, as mention was made of it so far back as 1873 by Mr. Wauchope, then Commissioner of Police. Persons upcountry, who are the class generally duped, are, however, never willing to come to Calcutta to prosecute.

8. Cognizable offences in the Suburbs.—The number of true cognizable cases fell from 7,016 to 6,732. There was an increase in Classes II and III—serious offences against the person and against person and property or property alone—and a decrease in all the remaining classes. In 6 cases of offences relating to coin, against 1 in the previous year, 7 persons were sent up for trial, 3 of whom were convicted. Four cases of murder were reported, the same number as in 1894, 2 of which ended in sentences of transportion for life. There were three cases of attempt at murder, against none in the preceding year; in two cases the accused were convicted, and in the third the culprit is still at large. In 16 cases of grievous hurt, convictions were obtained in 14; and of 11 cases of hurt by dangerous weapons, 9 resulted in conviction. Thirteen cases of kidnapping were reported, against 7 in 1894; of which 8 were instituted on complaint direct to the Courts. In these cases 21 persons were sent up for trial, of whom 2 were convicted, 16 acquitted, and 3 were awaiting trial at the close of the year. The number of true cases of burglary and lurking house-trespass reported was 106, and the value of property stolen Rs. 6,450, as compared with 65 and Rs. 1,331, respectively, in 1894, and 91 and Rs. 3,804, the average for the four years 1891—1894. The precentage of cases detected, persons convicted and property recovered show an improvement over the figures for the preceding year. The increase in cases occurred wholly in the Northern Division. Theft cases fell in number from 398 to 377, and the value of property stolen from Rs. 22,613 to Rs. 10,759. The percentage of cases detected and of property recovered was lower, and the percentage of persons convicted higher, than the average for the four preceding years.

9. Non-cognizable crime in the Suburbs.—The number of non-cognizable cases reported as true rose from 5,979 to 6,842. Municipal cases alone show an increase of 657. There was only one case of criminal breach of trust, against 8 in 1894. The other variations are trifling and do not call for remarks.

10. Suicides and accidental deaths.—Sixty-six cases of suicide were reported in the Town and suburbs during the year, against an average of 81 during the preceding four years. Of this number, 35 were males and 30 females—59 Hindus and 7 Muhammadans. During the year there were 226 accidental deaths reported, as compared with 288 in 1894 and 349 in 1893. Seventeen persons were run over and killed by vehicles, against 32 in the previous year; and 251 persons were prosecuted for rash and furious driving, of whom 210 were convicted, against 101 and 38 prosecuted, and 89 and 31 convicted in 1894 and 1893, respectively. Five Europeans and 32 natives were drowned in the Port of Calcutta, as compared with 12 and 41, respectively, in 1894.

11. Working of the Arms Act.—The number of fire-arms of all descriptions in stock at the commencement of the year was 2,555. In addition to these, 2,389 pieces were imported, and 1,819 purchased in India by dealers, making a total of 6,763: of this number, 716 were sold under transport licenses, and 3,511 disposed of locally, leaving a balance of 2,536 pieces in stock at the close of the year. Of 4 persons charged with offences under the Act, 3 were convicted and 1 acquitted.

12. European Vagrancy Act.—During the year, 73 vagrants were admitted into the Government Workhouse, against 51 admitted in 1894. Of these 66 were declared vagrants in Calcutta, and 7 were sent by District Magistrates. Sir John Lambert thinks that this large number, which is considerably in excess of the average for the past 17 years, is due to the number of ships laid up in port waiting for favourable freight. Of the total number in the Workhouse during the year, 33 were discharged, 8 released, 6 deported from British India under section 17 of the Act, and 3 sent away as distressed seamen, while 9 failed to return from leave, and 9 absconded.

13. Fire-brigade Act.—The Fire-brigade was employed at 35 fires during the year, against 32 in 1894. At 12 other fires assistance was rendered by the manual engines. One hundred and seven other petty fires occurred, in which the loss of property was trifling. At 9 of these, assistance was rendered by the Brigade, and at 98 by the out-station fire-brigade staff and manual engines. The total loss of property from fires during the year is estimated at Rs. 5,46,647, against Rs. 8,84,976 in 1894. The most destructive fires occurred in the Strand Bank Hydraulic Jute Press at Chitpur, and at Messrs. Dykes and Company's coach-building establishment in Waterloo Street, at which, property to the value of Rs. 3,73,317 and Rs. 1,30,000, respectively, was lost.

14. Constitution of Police Force.—The total sanctioned strength of the force was 2,891, as compared with 2,889 in 1894. There were 268 casualties, against 306 in the previous year, the percentage being 9·27, as compared with 10·59 in 1894, and 8·38 in 1893. Thirteen members of the force were punished judicially, against 7 in 1894, of whom 6 were imprisoned and 7 fined; 65 were dismissed against 82; and 29, or 10·03 per mille, died, against 26, or 8·99 per mille, in 1894. Admissions to hospital rose from 2,305 to 3,039, chiefly owing to the prevalence of malarial fever among the men attached to the southern tracts of the suburbs. Extra drill was imposed as a punishment upon 229 native constables, compared with 187 in 1894, and 227 in 1893.

15. Rewards.—A sum of Rs. 3,259-8 was disbursed in rewards during the year, of which Rs. 1,195 was paid by private individuals, against Rs. 3,498 in 1894. In all, 183 officers were rewarded, against 203 in 1894; and of these 97 were constables and 40 were informers.

16. Old offenders and anthropometry.—At the close of the year, 899 released offenders were under police surveillance, as compared with 706 and 595 at the close of 1894 and 1893, respectively. Previous convictions were proved against 542 offenders in the Town, against 401 in the preceding year, and 359 in 1893. During the year, 656 persons arrested for offences against property, whose antecedents were unknown to the police, were anthropometrically measured, and previous convictions were thereby traced against 43, as compared with 405 persons measured and 31 convictions traced in 1894. The measurements of 620 habitual offenders were, besides, recorded in the Anthropometrical Department of the Office of the Inspector-General of Police.

The number of persons confined in the police lock-up rose from 7,646 to 8,255, of whom 3,557 were arrested for drunkenness and 4,698 on other charges. The percentage of natives confined for drunkenness has been steadily increasing during the past three years, having risen from 65 per cent. in 1893 to 77 per cent. in 1894, and over 80 per cent. during the past year. The number of adjournments in police cases has fallen from 448 in 1893 to 389 in 1895.

17. General.—The most important feature of the year is the increase in serious offences against the person and property, which rose in number from 444 in 1894, and an average of 458 in the four preceding years, to 485. In the Town, cases of burglary rose to 134, and cases of theft to 1,517, against averages of 122 and 1,486, respectively, during the four years 1891—1894. In the suburbs the number of burglaries exceeded the average of the four previous years by 15, but thefts show a decrease of 39. The increase in burglaries is attributed by the Commissioner of Police to the unhealthiness of the suburbs, and the consequent high rate of sickness among the police during the year, rendering a considerable portion of the men unfit for beat duty. The percentage of convictions on arrests in serious cases fell very slightly, from 61·09 in 1894 to 59·89.

18. Judicial work.—Mr. Pearson held the office of Chief Presidency Magistrate from the 1st January to the 30th September, and again from the 11th November to the end of the year. During the interval Nawab Syud Ameer Hossein, C.I.E., Presidency Magistrate, Northern Division, officiated as Chief Magistrate, Mr. W. A. Bonnaud acting as Presidency Magistrate, Southern Division.

19. Court of the Chief Presidency Magistrate.—The total number of cases instituted in this Court was 11,716, as against 11,936 in 1894. Of 13,446 persons concerned, 12,313 were convicted, 1,074 acquitted or discharged, and 42 were under trial at the close of the year. The total amount of fines imposed was Rs. 26,779, of which Rs. 21,551 was realised. Appeals were preferred against the order of the Court in 24 cases, in one of which the order was set aside. In 529 cases complaints were dismissed under section 203, Criminal Procedure Code. Fourteen cases under section 364, Act II (B.C.) of 1888, for adulteration of food, were prosecuted, in all of which the accused were convicted, and sentenced—8 to a fine of Rs. 100 each, and the others to fines varying from Rs. 5 to Rs. 75.

20. Northern Division Court.—In this Court the total number of cases instituted was 15,753, against 14,225 in the preceding year. Of 16,507 persons brought to trial, 15,409 were convicted, 1,035 acquitted or discharged, and 34 remained under trial at the end of the year. Seventeen persons were committed in 15 cases to the Court of Sessions, of whom 14 were convicted and 3 discharged. Of 3,505 persons charged with offences under the Penal Code, 2,519 were convicted; and of 3,744 persons prosecuted for cruelty to animals, 3,726 were convicted. The total amount of fines imposed during the year was Rs. 25,450, against Rs. 25,628 in 1894. In 27 cases, 39 persons were prosecuted to conviction under section 364, Act II (B.C.) of 1888, for adulteration of food, and the accused sentenced to fines varying from Rs. 5 to Rs. 100. Appeals were preferred to the High Court in 52 cases, with the very satisfactory result that all were rejected. The High Court was moved in 14 cases, in two of which the order of the Court was set aside. Adjournments were granted in 150 Police cases, in 115 of which application for adjournment was made by the Police.

21. The statement below compares the number of persons against whom process issued in non-cognizable cases with the numbers actually appearing, for the past two years:—

NAME OF COURT.	Number of persons against whom process issued.		Number of persons actually appearing.		Percentage of persons appearing to persons against whom process issued.
	1894.	1895.	1894.	1895.	1894.	1895.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
Chief Presidency Magistrate	2,311	2,906	1,252	1,342	54·09	46·18
Presidency Magistrate, Northern Division ...	4,278	4,824	1,067	1,355	24·94	28·08
Honorary Presidency Magistrates	13,140	15,405	10,935	10,215	83·22	66·30
Total ...	19,729	23,135	13,254	12,912	67·18	55·81

As observed in previous Resolutions, these figures seem to show, that process is issued in a large number of cases without due consideration. A slight improvement took place in the Court of the Presidency Magistrate, Northern Division; but the results are worse in the case of the Courts of the Chief Presidency Magistrate and Honorary Magistrates.

22. Work of Honorary Magistrates.—Exclusive of municipal cases, 1,186 cases were transferred to the Bench Magistrates, 1,504 cases to Honorary Magistrates sitting singly, and one case was taken up by the Honorary Magistrates suo motu, making a total of 2,691 cases, as compared with 2,094 in 1894. Of these cases, 1,793 were under sections of the Penal Code, 99 under the Code of Criminal Procedure, and 800 under local laws, as against 1,555, 65 and 474, the corresponding figures for the previous year. In 2,495 cases actually brought to trial during the year, 3,729 persons were concerned, of whom 1,981, or 53 per cent., were convicted, and 1,718, or 46 per cent., acquitted or discharged, against 51 per cent. convicted and 47 per cent. acquitted or discharged in 1894. Fines were imposed to the extent of Rs. 7,363-10, as compared with Rs. 6,162-6 in the previous year. Appeals were preferred in 4 cases only, in three of which the orders were upheld, and in one the sentence was reduced. In 17 cases the High Court was moved, with the result that the convictions were set aside in 2 cases. Prosecutions under the Municipal Act, II (B.C.) of 1888, were instituted in 13,687 cases, against 11,702 in the preceding year, the increase being chiefly in cases under sections 90 and 212, as already stated. Of these cases, 5,377 were struck off, and 8,310 brought to trial, compared with 2,453 struck off and 9,249 brought to trial in 1894. Of 8,310 persons actually tried, 4,710, or 56·7 per cent., were acquitted or discharged, and 3,600, or 43·3 per cent., convicted, against 67·9 per cent. acquitted or discharged, and 32·1 per cent. convicted, in the preceding year. The total amount of fines imposed in municipal cases rose from Rs. 16,261-2 to Rs. 18,125-4, of which Rs. 14,648-7-6 were realised.

23. Mr. Pearson acknowledges the great assistance rendered by the Honorary Magistrates generally, and especially by those who, at some self-sacrifice, attended at a moment's notice to form a Bench on the default of others. Sir Alexander Mackenzie desires also to record his appreciation of the excellent services rendered voluntarily to Government by the Honorary Magistrates, and his thanks are in particular due to those gentlemen who have been specially named by Mr. Pearson. The number of Honorary Magistrates who sat once or oftener was 88, the same number as in the previous year, and the average number of sittings attended by each rose from 11·6 in 1893 and 13 in 1894 to 14·5 in 1895. His Honour, however, regrets to observe that many gentlemen sometimes absented themselves without giving notice of their inability to attend.

24. The Lieutenant-Governor has read with satisfaction the commendation bestowed by Sir John Lambert on Mr. A. B. Barnard, Deputy Commissioner of Police, who for nearly ten years filled that post until his recent transfer to the charge of a district, and the other officers whose work has been specially noticed in paragraph 38 of the Report. The thanks of Government are also due to Sir John Lambert himself and Mr. A. H. James for their efficient administration of the police during the year, and to Mr. Pearson and Nawab Syud Ameer Hossein, the two Presidency Magistrates.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta, for information, and for communication to the Presidency Magistrates; and to the Commissioner of the Presidency Division, the Chairman of the Corporation of Calcutta, and the Municipal Department of this Government, for information.

Ordered also, that a copy of the Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. W. BOLTON,

Offg. Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

APPOINTMENT OF A COMMITTEE TO CONSIDER AND REPORT ON THE STATE OF THE PRESIDENCY GENERAL HOSPITAL BUILDINGS, AND THE ADDITIONS AND ALTERATIONS NEEDED IN THEM, WITH A VIEW TO BRING THEM UP TO THE STANDARD OF METROPOLITAN MEDICAL INSTITUTIONS OF THE PRESENT DAY.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT,—MEDICAL.

Darjeeling, the 13th June 1896.

RESOLUTION—No. 314T.—M.

READ—

The Inspection Report of the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, dated the 13th December 1895, on the Presidency General Hospital.

A letter from Surgeon-Lieutenant-Colonel A. Crombie, Surgeon-Superintendent, Presidency General Hospital, dated the 14th February 1896, stating what alterations and improvements are necessary in the hospital building.

The attention of Government has frequently been drawn to the backward state of the Presidency General Hospital, and the many reforms needed in order to bring it up to the standard of metropolitan medical institutions of the present day, but it has hitherto been impossible to find funds to carry out a comprehensive scheme of improvement. The condition of the Provincial finances is now more prosperous, and the Lieutenant-Governor is convinced, from the correspondence cited in the preamble, and from other representations that have been made to him, that the consideration of the subject should no longer be deferred.

In his letter of the 14th February 1896, Dr. Crombie, the Superintendent, has enumerated the wants of the hospital as follows:—

(1) New marble floors to all the wards, except perhaps those of the centre block.
(2) Three new staircases with lifts.
(3) A new cook-house with suitable appliances.
(4) A steam laundry.
(5) New accommodation for paying patients, with separate kitchen and out-houses.
(6) New apothecaries' quarters.
(7) New furniture for the whole hospital.
(8) Remodelling of the bath-rooms and latrines.
(9) Proper godown and furniture for storing hospital clothing.
(10) Godown for patients' private clothes.
(11) Steam-engine for lighting the hospital with electricity, pulling punkhas, &c.

These alterations and additions would involve very large expenditure, and Dr. Crombie rightly raises the question whether, in view of the structural defects of the existing buildings, which have been unfavourably reported on by the Public Works Department, it would not be as well, once for all, to remodel the entire hospital so as to adapt it to modern requirements. In order that this important question may be thoroughly examined and discussed from all points of view, the Lieutenant-Governor has decided to appoint a Committee, consisting of the following gentlemen, to consider and report on the subject:—

The Hon'ble H. H. Risley, C.I.E.	President.
The Hon'ble W. B. Gladstone	Members.
Surgeon-Colonel G. C. Ross, Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals ...
J. G. H. Glass, Esq., C.I.E., Chief Engineer, Public Works Department
Surgeon-Lieutenant-Colonel R. Cobb, Officiating Surgeon-Superintendent, Presidency General Hospital
W. Banks Gwyther, Esq., Under-Secretary, Public Works Department	Secretary.

The Committee will assemble in Calcutta early in July, and will submit their report with as little delay as possible.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. H. RISLEY,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THE ROYAL BOTANIC GARDEN, CALCUTTA, FOR THE YEAR 1895-96.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT, MISCELLANEOUS.

Darjeeling, the 15th June 1896.

RESOLUTION—No. 182T.—F.

READ—

The Report of the Royal Botanic Garden, Calcutta, for the year 1895-96.

The season from October to March was abnormally dry, and many plants and trees perished or were damaged by the drought. Steady progress has, however, been made in improving the Botanic Garden, not only as a scientific centre for botanical students, but also as a pleasure resort for the public. Several garden roads were repaired, and the new road running from the Shalimar Point to the Garden was opened for traffic by the Public Works Department. The steps leading to Colonel Kyd's monument were renovated and paved with marble; and a cutting from the sacred Bo tree at Budh Gaya was presented by Mr. Grierson, late Magistrate of Howrah, and planted in the Garden.

2. Attention was as usual given to the cultivation and distribution of plants of economic value. Among these the Sida, a fibre-producing plant, and the Adhatoda Vasica, a decoction of which is popularly believed to be a powerful insecticide in tea plantations, were cultivated at the instance of the Reporter on Economic Products. The decoction of Adhatoda Vasica was submitted to a test, but the results are reported to have been of a somewhat doubtful nature. A portion of the Sibpur Experimental Farm was devoted to raising wheat from samples of seed supplied from the various wheat-growing districts in Bengal, and Dr. Prain, the Curator of the Herbarium, is now preparing a report on the races grown and on their relation to the names they bear in different districts.

3. The collection in the Herbarium was increased by more than 17,000 specimens, the chief contributors being the Director of the Royal Garden, Kew, and the Keeper of the Botanical Department of the National History Museum, London. Valuable sets of plants were also received from Dr. Engler (Berlin), the Botanical Museum of the University of Vienna, Dr. Hans Schinz (Zürich), Baron Von Mueller (Melbourne), the Smithsonian Institution at Washington, the Messrs. Pringle, Mr. Heller, Mr. Nash (Columbia College, New York), Mr. Man (Andaman Islands), the Government of the Straits Settlements, Mr. Sykes Gamble (Dehra Dun), Mr. Talbot (Canara), Mr. Lace (North-West Himalaya), Mr. Duthie (Botanical Survey Department, Northern India), Mr. Lawson (Botanical Survey Department, Madras), Mr. Woodrow (Botanical Survey Department, Bombay), and Mr. Gammie (Senior) of the Cinchona Plantation. Mr. Heinig, Forest Officer of the Sundarbans, and Mr. Gammie (Junior), of the Mangpuh Cinchona Plantation, contributed to the Garden valuable specimens of the flora of the Sundarbans. The native collectors employed by the Garden have also added some valuable contributions. On the other hand, a large number of specimens were sent out from the Garden to the Director of the Herbarium at Kew, the Keeper of the Botanical Department at the British Museum, the Directors of the University Herbaria at Edinburgh, Aberdeen, Cambridge, Berlin, Zürich, Florence, Vienna, Utrecht, Leyden, Upsala and Melbourne; the Botanical Survey Department, Northern India; the Smithsonian Institution, Washington; and to several other Botanical institutions.

4. During a portion of the year Dr. Prain was deputed to the wheat-growing districts of Upper India with the object of enquiring into the "host" or vehicle by which the blight affecting wheat and barley, commonly known as "rust," is propagated from year to year. The matter is one of the utmost importance, and it is hoped that Dr. Prain's investigations may render it possible to take effective measures for the prevention of these destructive blights.

5. During the year two volumes were added to the interesting series of Garden Annals, containing monographs by Sir Joseph D. Hooker on Indian Orchids and by Dr. D. D. Cunningham on the obscure phenomena known as sleep and sensitivity in plants, most of which he traces to purely physical processes. Both Dr. King and Dr. Prain also contributed valuable papers on botanical subjects to various scientific journals.

6. The Lloyd Botanic Garden at Darjeeling was in charge of Mr. Kennedy, who carried out various improvements in the roads and conservatories of the Garden. A gigantic specimen of the beautiful Australian fern Todea Barbara, weighing upwards of half a ton, was presented to the Garden by the distinguished botanist Baron Von Mueller, K.C.M.G., F.R.S. The attention of Dr. King is called to paragraph 3 of the Resolution on last year's report.

7. The thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are again due to Dr. King, the Superintendent, and Dr. Prain, the Curator of the Herbarium, for their successful administration of the Garden during the year.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. H. RISLEY,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE ROYAL BOTANIC GARDEN, CALCUTTA, FOR THE YEAR 1895-96.

No. 16G., dated Royal Botanic Garden, Sibpur, the 12th May 1896.

From—BRIGADE-SURGEON-LIEUTENANT-COLONEL GEORGE KING, M.B., LL.D., F.L.S., F.R.S., C.I.E., Superintendent, Royal Botanic Garden, Calcutta,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial Department.

I HAVE the honour herewith to submit the 109th Annual Report of the Royal Botanic Garden, Calcutta.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE ROYAL BOTANIC GARDEN, CALCUTTA, FOR THE YEAR 1895-96.

THE weather of the official year 1895-96 was remarkable for the great dryness of the months from October to March. Not only did the rainy season end prematurely, but the showers which are not unusual about the beginning of January entirely failed this year, and there was not a single storm from the north-west. The result of this excessive dryness on the plants growing out of doors has been disastrous. In spite of all efforts in the way of artificial watering, many small plants have died; and many trees, even of large size, will be disfigured by the loss of branches which have withered. The excessive dryness of the air during the few weeks when the majority of the orchids came into bloom had the double effect of reducing the size of these beautiful flowers, and of hastening their withering. The flowering-trees out of doors were also stimulated into putting out unusually large numbers of blossoms of smaller size than usual. The solitary benefit derived from the drought was that the water in the Garden lakes fell so low that it was possible, by cutting some of them off from the supply of water lifted from the river by the steam-pump, to run them quite dry, and thus to obtain from their beds a quantity of earth which will be of great use in raising the levels of numerous roads which are much in want of being heightened. Chief amongst such roads is the avenue leading from the river entrance to the Banyan tree. This, which is more than a third of a mile long, is one of the most prominent in the Garden. Towards the middle of it the level sinks, so that the roadway is below the surrounding ground. This depression not only produces an unpleasing effect, but it forms a cup in which water freely collects during the rains. By means of the earth recovered from the lakes near this road, I hope, during the year now entered upon, greatly to improve this avenue, as well as the ground on each side of it. During the year the Dyer and Falconer Avenues had their levels raised and were repaired, the soling bricks and burnt-brick metal required for the purpose having as usual been made within the Garden. With the relaying of the two avenues just mentioned, the eastern half of the Garden has now been well supplied with good roads. Much, however, still remains to be done in the western half. The Banyan avenue will probably be taken in hand during the current year, but it will not be possible to do more. The Roxburgh Avenue, which is in very bad condition during the greater part of its length; the Thomson Avenue, which is almost unfit for wheeled traffic; and various shorter roads will have to lie over for future occasions when special grants of money can be spared. During the cold weather the new road running from the Shalimar Point to the garden was opened for traffic by the Public Works Department; and, with its opening, people coming to the Garden by land began to enter it by a gate which was previously but little used. Anticipating this change, I had for some years back been improving the Garden in the neighbourhood of that gate. During the current year the final touches were put upon that part of the Garden, and it is now one of the prettiest spots within its boundaries. The gate itself is however rather mean and small, and a larger one ought to be provided as soon as funds permit. A year or two ago the platform on which Kyd's Monument stands was paved with marble, Sir Charles Elliott having made a special grant of money for the purpose. Last year, by a similar grant, marble steps to the platform were provided in supersession of the former cemented ones. No buildings were erected in the Garden during the year. I had hoped to have been able to build a new plant-house in the Nursery, but funds were not sufficient. Such a house ought to be put in hand as soon as possible. A glass-roofed house for the display of ferns is still also one of the desiderata of the Garden. Few ferns thrive well in the grass-roofed conservatories which have proved so perfectly suitable for orchids, palms, and other plants. In consequence of there not being a glazed conservatory, the public never see the Garden fern collection, which has to be kept in nursery houses near the Curator's quarters. Towards the end of the official year much was done towards thinning the large area planted with trees to the south-west of the great Banyan. During the year an interesting addition to the Garden trees was made in the shape of a rooted cutting of the sacred Bo tree of the temple at Budh Gaya, under a predecessor of which Sakya Muni, the founder of the Buddhistic faith, lived and taught. This interesting historic and religious relic was presented by Mr. G. A. Grierson, PH.D., lately Magistrate of Howrah. It has been planted on an island in the large lake near the big Banyan, from which, when it grows up, it will be well seen, and at the same time it will not be easily accessible.

2. Economic plants.—At the request of the Reporter on Economic Products to the Government of India, patches of two species of Sida were cultivated in the Garden, with the view of testing the value of their fibres for weaving and cordage. The crops grown on these patches were made over to the officer just mentioned. At his request also quantities of young plants of Adhatoda Vasica were prepared in the nurseries for issue to tea-planters, a decoction of the leaves of this plant having a popular reputation as a powerful insecticide. A few experiments were made in the nurseries by the Curator, Mr. R. L. Proudlock, with the view of testing the merits of this decoction. The results, however, were of a somewhat doubtful nature. The demands for rhea plants were less numerous than in former years, and the distribution during the year was proportionately small. Many hundreds of fruit and timber trees were issued to public officers in all parts of the Province. The Director of Land Records and Agriculture, having been for some time desirous of obtaining a botanical report on the various races of wheat grown in Bengal, and being unable to supply adequate material for a study of the subject, it was suggested that a portion of the Sibpur Experimental Farm should be devoted during the cold weather of 1895-96 to raising wheat from samples of seed supplied from the various wheat-growing districts. This suggestion was acceded to by Mr. Macpherson, and Dr. Prain has during the cold season made observations on the samples of wheat grown in the plot of ground thus placed at his disposal. His report on the races grown, and on their relationship to the names they bear in the different districts, will be in the hands of the Director of Land Records and Agriculture at an early date.

3. Herbarium.—Work in the Herbarium was carried on with vigour; and during the year 17,403 specimens were received, while 11,093 carefully-named specimens of Indian plants were issued to various scientific institutions all over the world. The chief donors to the Herbarium were the Director of the Royal Garden, Kew, who contributed 1,974 specimens, and the Keeper of the Botanical Department of the Natural History Museum, London, who transmitted 1,129 duplicate specimens not required by that institution. From Dr. Engler, Conservator of the Royal Herbarium, Berlin, were received 512 specimens, and from the authorities of the Botanical Museum of the University of Vienna 1,000. Dr. Hans Schinz, Director of the Botanic Garden at Zurich, contributed 558; and the veteran Baron Von Müeller, Government Botanist in Melbourne, augmented his former munificent donations by 106 specimens during the past year. From American botanists large contributions were received; the Smithsonian Institution at Washington having sent 1,134 specimens, while Messrs. Pringle contributed 431 Mexican specimens, Mr. Heller 344, and Mr. Nash (of Columbia College, New York) 703 specimens. The Government of the Straits Settlements contributed 850 specimens, collected chiefly in Malacca; and Mr. E. H. Man, to whom for many previous years the Herbarium has been greatly beholden, sent 257 from the Andaman Islands. Among officers of the Indian Forest Department who made presentations, there have to be mentioned Mr. J. Sykes Gamble, an old and valued contributor, who last year sent 456 specimens from Dehra Dun; Mr. W. A. Talbot, who sent 29 from Canara; Mr. R. L. Heinig, who sent 8 from the Sundarbans; and Mr. J. H. Lace, who sent 180 from the extreme North-West Himalaya. From Mr. J. A. Gammie, of the Government Cinchona Plantation, 172 specimens were received; while his son, Mr. G. A. Gammie, having made a tour in the Sundarbans with the Forest Officer of that Division, brought back 509 specimens jointly collected by Mr. Heinig and himself. To the Director of the Botanical Survey of Northern India (Mr. J. F. Duthie) the Herbarium is indebted for 669 specimens contributed during the year; while the late Mr. M. A. Lawson, Director of the Botanical Survey of Madras, sent 300 species from Travancore; and Mr. Marshall Woodrow, Director of the Bombay Botanical Survey, sent 34 species collected in the Deccan. A large number of specimens (numbering 3,068) were brought in by native collectors working under the supervision of Mr. R. Pantling, of the Cinchona Plantation; while 578 were got from Abdul Kholil, a native collector working in the Shan Hills. The chief recipients of the named plants issued from the Herbarium during the year were the Director of the Herbarium at Kew; the Keeper of the Botanical Department at the British Museum; the Directors of the University Herbaria at Edinburgh, Aberdeen, Cambridge, Berlin, Zurich, Florence, Vienna, Utrecht, Leiden, Upsala, and Melbourne; the Directors of the Botanic Gardens at Buitenzorg (in Java), Singapore, Peradeniya (Ceylon); M. C. De Candolle, Geneva; the Director of the Museum of the Jardin des Plantes, Paris; the Committee of the Smithsonian Institution, Washington; the Directors of the Botanical Survey of Northern India and of the Government Museum at Perak, of the College of Science, Poona, and of the Museum at Madras. Full lists of both receipts and issues will be found in Appendices V and VI of this report.

4. Botanical publications.—During the year the first part of the fifth volume of the Annals of the Garden was published. This part is occupied by detailed descriptions and figures of a hundred species of new and little known Indian orchids by the illustrious and veteran botanist, Sir Joseph D. Hooker. Sir Joseph has been engaged, as Government are aware, for the past five and twenty years on the preparation of a Flora of British India. In the course of his elaboration of the family of Orchidaceæ for that monumental work, he had at his disposal the whole of the materials of the Calcutta Herbarium, including the coloured drawings made by the Garden artists. These drawings, which have been accumulating since nearly the beginning of the century, were found by Sir Joseph so useful that he recommended the publication of a selection of them, and generously undertook to supply the descriptions himself. The result is his Century of Indian Orchids, which forms the first part of the fifth volume of our Annals. Towards the end of the year there was also published the first part of the sixth volume of these Annals. This part is occupied by an account of a very important research in vegetable physiology by Dr. D. D. Cunningham, Professor of Physiology in the Medical College, Calcutta. Dr. Cunningham devoted much of his leisure time during a period of several years to making observations of, and experiments connected with, the phenomena popularly known as sleep and sensitivity in plants. The results of these researches go to prove that the great majority, if not all, of the transient spontaneous movements of the higher vegetable organisms are dependent on purely physical processes. The memoir is a most exhaustive one, and is illustrated by drawings from Dr. Cunningham's own pencil. In the same part of the Annals is also included an account, by the same author, of a destructive vegetable blight. Dr. Prain, Curator of the Herbarium, contributed the following papers to various scientific journals:—On Milula, a new genus of Liliaceæ, from the Eastern Himalaya (in Scientific Memoirs by Medical Officers of the Army of India); An account of the genus Argemone (in the Journal of Botany); A Revision of the genus Chelidonium (in the Bulletin de l' Herbier Boissier); Le genre Microtoena (in the Bulletin de la Société Botanique de France); Noviciæ Indicæ, IX and X, some additional Papaveraceæ and some additional Fumariaceæ (in the Journal of the Asiatic Society of Bengal); as well as some minor teratological and morphological communications to the same Society. Finally, in the Journal of the Asiatic Society of Bengal, I published the eighth portion of my Materials for a Flora of the Malay Peninsula; and in the same journal appeared descriptions of thirty-three new species of Sikkim orchids, by Mr. R. Pantling, of the Cinchona Plantation, and myself.

5. Library.—A few books were added to the library, both by purchase and in exchange for copies of the Garden Annals.

6. Interchange of plants and seeds.—Full details of the issues and receipts of these will be found in Appendices I, II, III, and IV; the total issues having been 30,898 plants and 2,384 packets of seeds, and the receipts 14,342 plants and 1,177 packets of seeds. Amongst the collections of living plants received during the year the most interesting, from a botanical point of view, was that made in Assam by Dr. G. Watt, C.I.E., during a tour which he made in that province in connection with his researches into tea blights. Dr. Watt's collection consisted of no less than 1,215 plants, many of them of much interest

7. Lloyd Botanic Garden, Darjeeling.—This Garden was worked during the whole year by the Curator, Mr. W. A. Kennedy, who, besides his duties in the Garden, has charge of the Shrubbery grounds and of the trees planted in various parts of the station. During the year Mr. Kennedy carried out various improvements on the roads and conservatories within the Garden. A very remarkable plant was added to the Darjeeling garden during the year, namely, a gigantic specimen of the beautiful Australian fern, Todea barbara. This plant was the personal gift of the distinguished botanist, Baron Ferdinand Von Müeller, K.C.M.G., F.R.S., who for many years has been the highest authority on the botany of the Australian Colonies. Baron Von Müeller has in past times presented many valuable plants to the Calcutta Garden, but this, his latest gift, outrivals all his previous contributions. The Todea which now adorns the Darjeeling Garden was removed by the Baron, at his own expense, from a lonely valley far distant from his residence in Melbourne. It weighs upwards of half a ton, and ought, when it has had sufficient time to expand its leaves, to form a magnificent object.

8. The budget allotments of funds, both for the Calcutta and Darjeeling Gardens, were spent in full. The proceeds of the sale of surplus plants and seeds, amounting to Rs. 1,107-1-6 for the Calcutta Garden and to Rs. 1,014-8 for the Darjeeling Garden, were paid into the Government treasuries as usual.

9. Dr. Prain (who had been on furlough to Europe) returned to duty in June, and since then he has been in charge of the Herbarium. On 1st July Dr. Prain was appointed Professor of Botany in the Calcutta Medical College in place of myself, Government having allowed me to retire from that appointment. During Dr. Prain's absence the Herbarium work was carried on by

Mr. G. A. Gammie (of the Cinchona Plantation), who on Dr. Prain's return reverted to his own appointment at Mungpoo. For the first eleven months of the year Mr. R. L. Proudlock held the appointment of Curator of the Calcutta Garden. Towards the end of January he was transferred to the Curatorship of the Government Garden at Ootacamund, and his place here was filled by Mr. Lane (the Assistant Curator), who returned during the year from Allahabad, where he had held an acting appointment. Mr. Lane's place on the staff of this Garden was in turn filled by Mr. Davies, who had previously been a probationer under the new scheme for providing a corps of gardeners for India. Mr. Proudlock's advancement to the Ootacamund Garden thus gave the means of giving well-merited promotion to Messrs. Lane and Davies, whose work during the year has been very satisfactory. The offices both of the Botanic Garden and of the Cinchona Plantation have, during the year, been in charge of Babu Gopal Chandra Datta, who has worked with his usual assiduity.

10. The usual appendices (six in number) which accompany this report give full details as to the distribution of plants, seeds, and Herbarium specimens.

[Reprinted from the "Gazette of India."]

The following order, issued by the Government of India in the Finance and Commerce Department, is republished for general information.

Offg. Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

NOTIFICATION.

ACCOUNTS AND FINANCE.
PUBLIC DEBT.

No. 2680.

Simla, the 22nd June 1896.

THREE PER CENT. LOAN OF 1896-97.

His Excellency the Right Honourable the Governor-General in Council has resolved to borrow four hundred lakhs of rupees for the public service in the following manner.

2. Promissory Notes will be issued for the said amount, bearing interest at the rate of three per centum per annum, payable half-yearly on the 30th day of June and 31st day of December. The notes will be in the Form annexed to this Notification, and they will not be discharged before December 31st, 1916, nor until the expiration of three months after notice of payment to be published in the Government Gazette.

Tenders.

3. Tenders for the whole or any part of the said amount of Rs. 4,00,00,000 will be received by the Comptroller-General from this date to noon of Wednesday, the 22nd July next. Tenders must be for sums of 500 Rupees or multiples of 500 Rupees.

4. Each tender must be addressed, in the Form annexed to this Notification, to the Comptroller-General, Calcutta, and enclosed in a closed cover, superscribed "Tender for the Three Per Cent. Loan." If the tenderer is not resident in India, he must name an agent resident in India to whom an allotment-certificate may be issued, if any part of the loan is allotted to such tenderer.

NOTE.—Tenders made in accordance with these instructions will also be received by the Accountants-General, Madras and Bombay, on account of the Comptroller-General, Calcutta, on the 21st July and up to 11-30 or 11 o'clock local time respectively (corresponding with 12 o'clock in Calcutta) on the 22nd July; provided that—

(a) they are delivered personally or by clerk or messenger at the Accountant-General's Office (where a receipt will be given for them);

(b) they are made on printed Forms, to be obtained at the same office or at the local Presidency Bank;

(c) each tender is for not less than Rs. 10,000;

(d) that the deposit is either a promissory note or a Treasury Receipt from the Head Office of the local Presidency Bank, or a cheque on a local Bank in Madras or Bombay in favour of the Accountant-General, Madras or Bombay, respectively;

(e) that the amount of the tender is made payable either in Calcutta, Madras, or Bombay; and the Accountant-General will return deposits on non-accepted tenders, and will issue allotment-certificates so far as the tenders are payable in Madras or Bombay.

5. The rate at which each tender is made must be specified in rupees or rupees and annas: a tender in which no rate is thus specified, but a subscription is offered in some other terms—as for example, at the recorded minimum, or at some specified percentage in addition to the recorded minimum, or at the average of the accepted tenders—will be rejected as null and void.

6. The rate at which a tender is made must not contain a fraction of an anna: if a rate containing a fraction of an anna is inserted in any tender, such fraction will be struck out and the tender treated as if the rate did not contain such fraction of an anna.

Deposits.

7. Each tender must be accompanied by a deposit of not less than one-hundredth, or, if the tender be for less than Five Lakhs of Rupees, then for not less than one-fiftieth part of the tender. The deposit must be in one of the following forms: (a) a receipt for the amount from the Head Office of the Bank of Bengal, or Madras, or Bombay, or one of their Branches, or from an officer in charge of some Public Treasury, or (b) a cheque drawn in favour of the Comptroller-General on a Bank in Calcutta, Madras, or Bombay, or (c) Government Promissory Notes[1] standing in the name of or endorsed to the tenderer or the person making the deposit.

[1] It is particularly requested that such Promissory Notes may NOT be endorsed to the Comptroller-General.

8. (a) Deposits, not being promissory notes, will, in the case of accepted tenders, be credited proportionally in part payment of the allotment-certificates issued in respect of the tender, and will bear interest for the purpose of clause 16 below from the date of the opening of tenders. When a tender is not accepted in full, the deposits, when they are not in the form of promissory notes, will be credited as far as possible proportionately in even tens of rupees in part payment of the allotment-certificates issued in respect of it. If any allotment-certificate is not fully taken up, the deposit credited in respect of it will be forfeited.

(b) Promissory notes deposited in respect of any accepted tender will be held until all the allotment-certificates issued in respect of the tender are paid up, and will, if the allotment-certificates are not fully taken up, be appropriated by the Government and cancelled.

Opening of Tenders.

9. The minimum rate at which tenders will be accepted will be recorded under the signature of the Comptroller-General, and, before the tenders are opened, placed upon the table in a sealed envelope, but will not be declared unless some tender is rejected only because it is below the recorded minimum.

10. Tenders will be opened publicly by the Comptroller-General at the Treasury Buildings, Calcutta, at noon (Calcutta time), on Wednesday, the 22nd July next, and those received under the terms of the note under clause 4 will be similarly opened by the Accountant-General, Madras, at 11-30 (Madras time), and by the Accountant-General, Bombay, at 11 o'clock (Bombay time) on the same day; but the contents of the tenders will not be disclosed otherwise than as provided in clause 12.

11. Tenders at the recorded minimum rate and at rates above the recorded minimum rate will be accepted in the order of the rates tendered, beginning with the highest rate; the amount allotted at the lowest rate at which tenders are accepted will be divided amongst those who have tendered at this rate in proportion, as nearly as may be found convenient, to the amounts of their tenders; provided that no allotment will be issued if the amount distributable on any tender is less than Rs. 500.

Allotment Certificates.

12. To each tenderer (or to his agent), whose tender is accepted in whole or in part, such number of allotment-certificates as may be necessary to make up the aggregate amount allotted to him will be issued by the Comptroller-General[1] as soon as possible after the 22nd July; and an alphabetical list of the names of those to whom such allotment-certificates are issued will be posted for general information at the Head Offices of the Banks of Bengal, Madras and Bombay.

[1] For tenders received by the Accountant-General, Madras or Bombay, and payable at those places, the Accountant-General will issue the allotment-certificates.

13. If the allotment made on any tender is less than Rs. 3,000, then the whole of the allotment-certificates [after credit of the deposit under clause 8 (a)] will be made payable upon the 9th September.

Otherwise the whole amount of each allotment will be divided into three instalments as follows:—

Instalment I.—As near as convenient to 35 per cent., but not exceeding 35 per cent., payable upon the 7th August:

Instalment II.—As near as convenient to 35 per cent., but not exceeding 35 per cent., payable upon the 9th September:

Instalment III.—The balance payable upon the 9th October:

and allotment-certificates will be issued for each instalment separately.

But the whole or any part of any accepted tender may be paid at any time after receipt of the allotment-certificates.

The words "as near as convenient" refer to the necessity for making each instalment an exact multiple of Rs. 500.

14. Any allotment-certificate will, on application to the Comptroller-General, be exchanged for an equivalent amount of allotment-certificates of smaller denominations; provided that if any payment (beyond the deposit) is recorded upon the cancelled certificate, it can be taken against, and recorded upon, only one of the certificates issued in exchange.

15. Payment of any allotment-certificate may be made to the account of the Government in the Head Office of the Bank of Bengal or Madras or Bombay, or in any Branch of these Banks, or into any Public Treasury or Treasuries in India which may be named in the tender in respect of which it was issued. Receipts for such payments will be given by the Banks of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay, or their Branches, or by the Officers in charge of the Government Treasuries at which payment is made, by enfacement upon the relative certificate.

Issue of Promissory Notes.

16. (a) When any allotment-certificate is fully paid up, the holder will, on presenting it, duly receipted at the place where it was paid, obtain from the Public Debt Office, Calcutta, promissory notes of such values as he may desire (each note being in even hundreds and not less than Rs. 500), bearing interest from 31st December 1896, and he will also receive interest at 3 per cent. per annum from the dates on which he may have made payment till the 30th of December 1896.

(b) Or he may, at his option, by paying interest at the said rate from 30th June 1896 to the dates on which he may have made payment, obtain promissory notes as above, bearing interest from 30th June 1896.

AFRICA, EAST COAST—Delagoa bay.

Beacons and sailing directions.

Notice to Mariners No. 257 of 1896, issued by the British Admiralty, is republished:—

The following information, dated 13th April 1896, relating to the navigation of Delagoa bay, has been received from Captain Thomas MacGill, H. M. S. Phœbe:—

1. Beacons.—Gibbon point beacon, in approximately lat. 25° 58′ 0″ S., long. 32° 54′ 15″ E., has been altered so as to be plainly visible in clear weather.

Timpson point beacon, south end of Shefina island, in approximately lat. 25° 55′ 40″ S., long. 32° 41′ 25″ E., has been re-erected, and is apparently constructed of masonry, painted white and surmounted by a pole.

2. The red streak, on Inyack island, given as a mark (in line with Gibbon point) to lead eastward of Fawn shoal and other dangers, cannot be seen at the distance required except under unusually favourable circumstances.

3. Hope channel.—It is stated that an angle of 42° to 43° preserved between cape Inyack and Gibbon point beacon, until cape Inyack bears S. 21° E., will take a vessel through Hope channel, in a least depth of 5½ fathoms at high water springs. This channel is now most frequently used by vessels entering Delagoa bay.

4. English river approach.—The following directions are given for entering English river :—Bring Reuben point lighthouse to bear N. 77° W., when it is about 10 miles distant, and keep it on that bearing until Catembe beacon bears N. 86° W., and is open northward of Catembe lighthouse, and keep the beacon on that bearing (this line giving more water than the beacon and lighthouse in line) until Lechmere point bears N. 40° W., which leads to the anchorage.

Caution.—The depths in the channels at the entrance to Delagoa bay are not accurately known, and the channels should be navigated with caution until a thorough examination of the locality has been made.
